"LOVED HIM TOO MUCH," NOW HE ASKS DIVORCE

Albert G. Wheeler, Wealthy Chicago Broker, Accuses Actress-wife for Visiting Hotels with Men.

New York, Nov. 20.—Papers in a suit for absolute divorce were served today upon Mrs. Albert Gallatin Wheeler, Jr., a former actress, whose marital difficulties with her rich, young Chicago husband have been in the limelight for the last few years. The papers in the suit charge Mrs. Wheeler with visiting a number of hotels in this city with men other than her husband.

In 1908, shortly after her marriage to young Wheeler, the couple came to New York and at the time it was asserted that he carried a satchel containing $1,000,000 in securities as a guard against "going broke."

Two years later Mrs. Wheeler obtained a separation. At the time she set forth the remarkable views that she loved her husband too much to live with him. Mrs. Wheeler, before her marriage, was Claudia Carlstedt, a stage beauty. Wheeler is a stock broker.

TO DESCRIBE OLD WATERWAYS.

Chinese Minister Will Talk at Rivers and Harbors Meeting.

If the present promises are fulfilled, the eleventh annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will meet in this city on December 5-10, will be the largest that ever has been held by that organization. One thousand delegates will not only attend the convention, but will call upon the committees of Congress and the Senate and Representatives, to urge the improvement of waterways in which they are interested.

In view of the attacks made on the last rivers and harbors bill, which resulted in the appropriation of $20,000,000 instead of an amount exceeding $25,000,000, the coming convention should not be overlooked in the history of the organization.

Definite acceptance to speak has been received from the Chinese Minister, Mr. Kai fu Shih, who will tell of the waterways of his country—at once the oldest of nations and the youngest of republics—which have been in constant use for thousands of years. Other speakers will be Senators Weeks, of Massachusetts; Simmons, of North Carolina; and William Alden Smith, of Michigan. Speaker Champ Clark, and ex-Gov. Charles S. Deneen, of Illinois. Irving C. Norwood, a former Waterways committee correspondent, now secretary of the Greater Davenport (Iowa) committee, will lecture on "Water Terminals."

FAVORS U. S. REGULATION.

Commissioners Say Stocks and Bonds Should Be Controlled.

The National Association of Railway Commissioners ended their convention in Washington yesterday and they will meet again in October next in San Francisco. The commissioners yesterday discussed the pending Reburn bill, which gives the Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction over securities issued by railroads. As the result of the discussion the convention adopted the following resolution:

"That it is the sense of this association that the issue of stocks and bonds by common carriers and other public service corporations shall be regulated and controlled by governmental authority, but that the regulation and control of issues of stocks and bonds by the Federal government should not be in lieu of, but in addition to the authority of the several States in such matters."

Find Longitudinal Difference.

Announcement was made yesterday that the long series of tests to determine, by the use of radio-telegraphy, the difference in time between Washington and Paris have been concluded. The difference in longitude is declared to be five hours, seventeen minutes and 35.68 seconds. This is the first time that difference of longitude and time have been determined by the use of wireless. The tests were conducted from the Naval Observatory and the Arlington radio station. The distance of a great circle between the two points is 3,831 miles.

Suits, Overcoats and Balmacaans of Class

At $14.50 and $19.50

We believe that our selection of suits, overcoats and balmacaans is unrivaled, and our belief is borne out by the manner in which the young men and the young older men have chosen this new shop as the home of their clothes.

Form-fitting English model overcoats and Chesterfield model overcoats are here aplenty, in every fabric weave that is up to the minute. Also we are a little proud of the fact that this clothing shop was the first place to show

THE NEW "COLLEGE" BALMACAAN With the Set-in-sleeves.

These extremely nobby coats jumped into instant popularity with the young fellows who want to keep just a little ahead of the rest, and at the same time get the utmost in value and service. Handsomely tailored of English tweeds and Scotch chevots in exclusive patterns of plaids, stripes and mixtures, they are warm without being weighty and chuck full of style.

A variety of suits so varied and complete, that to look through them all is to hardly know which to select, they are all so good. Extreme English model suits, conservative suits, double-breasted suits—many silk lined. Hand tailored, of all-wool serges, chevots, cassimeres, unfinished worsteds and imported mixtures in tartan plaids, overplaids, block plaids, Roman stripes, club checks and the new plain shades of green, brown and gray.

It is logical that the New Men's Clothing Shop must give more in actual value than the older establishments, and the best proof that it is giving more, is the fact that those who have come and looked and gone elsewhere to compare, have almost invariably returned to purchase.

SCHUMANN-HEINK DELIGHTFUL

Audience Charmed with Concert at the National Yesterday.

A thoroughly inspiring and delightful program was given yesterday afternoon at the National Theater by Mme. Schumann-Heink in one of Mrs. Wilson-Green's series of artists' concerts. The first number was the rarely heard but exquisitely beautiful "My Heart Ever Faithful," of J. S. Bach. A more or less conventional song, it has an accumulative charm and a fine religious sentiment, all of which Mme. Schumann-Heink ably brought out.

The melodious "Ach ich habe alle verloren," from Gluck's "Orpheus and Eurydice," was followed by three arias from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah," sung in a German version. The strength of her, the clear warmth of voice, and the dramatic power of these arias, the last of which is the universally known "Mon Couer," attest the marvelous training of the famous contralto.

A debt of gratitude to Mme. Schumann-Heink must be acknowledged for giving the far-too-rarely-heard, and one of the greatest of song cycles ever written, the "Frauenliebe und Leben," of Robert Schumann, one of his greatest musical poems. It is, as most of Schumann's songs are, really a duo between voice and piano, and its rich psychological life creates a succession of mental pictures in the listener. The poem is by Adelbert Chamisso.

The pianist, Mrs. Katherine Hoffmann, played the exacting accompaniment of this masterpiece in intelligent sympathy with subtle change of dramatic expression. The "Heimweh" of Hugo Wolf, the "Dawn in the Desert" of Gertrude Ross, "His Lullaby" of C. J. Bond, the "Irish Folk Song" of Arthur Foote, and "Good Morning, Sue," by Delibes, brought to a close one of the most perfect musical afternoons thus far of the season; and the people, loath to depart, were doubly rewarded for a warm appreciation with "Heille Gie Nacht" and "The Rosary."

The encore that was a laughing applause early in the program was a "Sixteen Cent Spinneliedchen," a German folk song.

Mr. Edward J. McNamara, baritone, of Paterson, N. J., and new to the concert stage this season, employed his beautiful voice in a group of songs—"Prologue to Pagliacci," "The Red, Red Rose," of Hastings, and the "Auld Plead Shawl," by Haynes.

LAD KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE.

Jumps from Wagon in Path of Supt. Sinclair's Car.

Leon Rosenberg, eighty years old, of Sherrier place, near Fifty-first street northwest, was killed yesterday when he jumped from the rear of a wagon and was struck by the automobile of Lindley E. Sinclair, of 317 Seventeenth street northwest, general superintendent of the Potomac Electric Power Company.

The accident occurred in the Conduit road, just inside the District line. Mr. Sinclair said the boy jumped from the wagon into the path of the automobile. It was too late to avoid striking him. He took the lad to the Rosenberg home and went for a physician, who said the boy was dead.

Mr. Sinclair surrendered himself at the Seventh precinct police station. He was released on $2,000 bond.

An inquest will be held at 11:30 o'clock today.
